Dear Friends of Greenfield:

More families are choosing Albert M. Greenfield School - thanks to incredible teachers, our supportive community and our commitment to rigorous academics and cultural enrichment for our diverse student body. But while the Philadelphia School District takes care of our staffing, it can't supply everything this growth requires. We are in need of increases and upgrades in technology and furnishings.

Technology is entwined in every part of today's culture. Schools must give every student access to technology for learning. Chromebooks are the device of choice for educators because of their simplicity, shareability and low cost. Our school supply must grow to accommodate classroom needs and take into account wear and tear and obsolescence.

Desks, chairs, tables, lockers and bathroom facilities are the basic foundations of a school. These tools of learning are easy to overlook, but a short supply or damaged furnishings are glaring problems. Well-kept, comfortable furnishings and surroundings grow our students' ability to learn and increase pride in their school and themselves.

Support Our Growth

The Albert M. Greenfield School Home & School Association has made technology and furnishings the focus of our upcoming 11th Annual Auction & Social. Auction for a Growing Greenfield will take place on Friday, May 11, and funds raised will support the purchase of Chromebooks and school furnishings. This event is our neighborhood school's major fundraising event of the year and has grown to nearly 400 attendees. We invite you to support Auction for a Growing Greenfield.
